INTRODUCTION

During the 1979-80 academic year, the University of Wisconsin received a Department of Education 603 grant for the purpose of developing global studies materials for seven area programs. This guide is an outgrowth of the research data collected for the project as well as an education seminar held in Morocco by Portland State University. From the experience of participating in the University of Wisconsin Global Studies Workshop and the Portland State University Moroccan Seminar with teachers, curriculum coordinators, and principals, I have designed this guide for teachers, librarians, and media specialists.

Each title reference in the bibliography preceded by a key number is cross-listed with a succeeding author, date, illustrator, and subject index. The 236 titles are a compendium of reviewed trade books only. Middle East Outreach Centers throughout the United States have prepared numerous reviews of current textbooks. These trade books are published between 1970 and August, 1980, as cited in journals, publications, and Middle East association documents. The title entry contains the author and translator, publisher, date of publication, pagination, cost, illustrator, and suggested interest level. Below this information is the place of the review, date, and reviewer. For the purpose of this document, the countries of the Middle East include 16: Bahrain, Cyprus, Iraq, Iran, Israel, Jordan, Kuwait, Lebanon, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Turkey, United Arab Emirates, Yemen, and Yemen Peoples Democratic Republic. Arabic-speaking countries of Africa were not included since these countries were considered in a previous paper, Guide to Books About Africa for Children and Youth, 1979.

The method for collecting titles included the use of John N. Hawkins and Jon Maksik TEACHER'S RESOURCE HANDBOOK FOR NEAR EASTERN STUDIES, Jane Maehr THE MIDDLE EAST: AN ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY OF LITERATURE FOR CHILDREN, Jerrold Fix

THE MIDDLE EAST INSTITUTE RESOURCE GUIDE FOR TEACHERS, and a series of newsletters or publications from the following: University of Utah, Portland State University, University of California-Los Angeles, University of Arizona, University of Texas, Harvard University, University of Michigan, and Princeton/New York State Universities. Since most reviews from which teachers and librarians make selections are found in School Library Journal, Booklist, Horn Book, and Language Arts, I concentrated my efforts on these journals as well as to Nu-Book Service reviews and Reviewer's Consensus. These last reviewers' guides are located in the Cooperative Children's Book Center, University of Wisconsin.

This bibliography comprises an inclusive listing of reviews of children and youth's trade books about the Middle East published in the United States for American students since 1970. Because the Middle East remains obscure for many students and teachers, this guide is designed to facilitate curriculum planning. With this bibliography a student, teacher, librarian, and curriculum coordinator may diminish misunderstanding and stereotypes. The guide generates ideas for more sensitive lesson plans focusing on issues of the 16 countries for primary and secondary students in the United States.
